With Appreciation,

We are grateful for our partners in the local fight against cancer. Throughout every step of this project, gifts from our donor partners have provided both financial support and heartfelt encouragement to our team and those we serve. Their generosity is a key reason the doors to Aultman's Timken Family Cancer Center (TFCC) will open later this summer.

Each donor and every dollar will have a lasting impact on the legacy of advanced cancer care, close to home, for the thousands of patients that Aultman has the privilege to serve. Our Aultman family of clinical leaders, team members, patients, and their caregivers appreciate the incredible support of our community, and we thank all who donated and made a difference.

Their partnership is unforgettable. It is our honor to recognize the names of those contributing at the Chairman's Circle level and above on a special philanthropic partnership display in the Timken Family Cancer Center's main lobby. The display is under design now! The local company creating this special recognition was selected with help from a committee of grateful patients, donors, The Aultman Foundation Directors, Women's Board members, and marketing experts.

In addition to the partnership display, we are humbled by the many names that will be honored and remembered in the new center through tribute gifts. It is our privilege to celebrate these individual and family names with their loved ones. Thank you donor partners for your trust, and thanks to our community for the opportunity to serve as your leader in cancer care.

To learn more about the philanthropic partnership display and other tribute and recognition opportunities at Aultman's Timken Family Cancer Center, please contact Lisa Zellers at 330-363-4330.

Construction Update: Radiation Therapy Renovation Complete, New Construction Enclosed and Progressing

As we continue to reach new milestones during our recent renovations and construction, the Timken Family Cancer Center is transforming from a hopeful vision of the future into a lifechanging reality.

In January, we reached the final phases of renovation in our fully modernized Radiation Therapy department. Vault 3 and the new brachytherapy suite are in use and being finalized, and the old control desk has been removed. In early February, new flooring was installed as we completed all Radiation Therapy renovations.

Within the new construction of the Timken Family Cancer Center, the building is now temporarily enclosed and heated with natural gas heaters, allowing the work to continue even during the coldest winter months. We are continuing to make progress on mechanical, electrical and plumbing, while also caulking glass and glazing.

Insulation and drywall continue to be installed on both levels. On the ground level, we've even begun painting the drywall! The mechanical room walls were finished for equipment installation, and the ambulance canopy is being constructed and installed. Most recently, we lifted air handlers onto the roof of the new building. The ceiling grid on the ground level was installed in mid-February, with the floor installation beginning immediately afterward.

Thanks to careful planning and thorough follow-through, the construction and renovation projects are on schedule and on budget as we keep making progress - by leaps and bounds - on the future of cancer care in Stark County!

Final Steel Beam Raised for TFCC

The progress on the construction of the center is amazing - considering the final steel beams, including one adorned with the signatures of roughly 450 Aultman colleagues, patients, family members and community leaders, were raised into place at the end of October.
